

Your can copy your zine on a photocopy machine and give it to friends or distribute it in a random place for a lucky stranger to find it.

Step 4

Cut the paper in the middle and fold the zine.

Step 3

Write and draw your content. Take care to leave some empty space at the edges for copying and printing.

Step 2

Fold your paper 4 times.

Step 1

More info:

This zine is inspired by a Rookie Mag article on how to make zines. Find an step-by-step folding tutorial there: tinyurl.com/zines-are-fun

Little Guide to making Zines

by Malwine

Let's learn making zines!
Everybody can learn it!

Good luck!

What is a mini zine?

Mini zines are small 1 page self-made and self-published magazines originated in the punk, feminist and queer movements.

They are a great tool to publish your own topics, enabling you to share your strong ideas and thoughts with other people no matter if too niche or ignored by the mainstream.

Can I do it?

Everyone can make zines. It is totally ok to make rough and unpolished zines. They don't need to be perfectly layouted.

What do you need?

1 page A4 paper

This is the basic set of material. Of course you can add more material like cut out pieces from magazines, pictures, etc.